

Testimonial poem from a special patient

Feet

By Tom Myles

We walk, we run, dance and

Play on our feet.

Oh, how we use them.

They serve us well if we don't abuse them.

So treat them with loving tender care

Remembering without them you go nowhere.

Buy shoes that fit, not for style.

Your feet will thank you after walking a mile.

If you see a problem with your feet, don't wait.

See a Doctor of Podiatry before it's too late.

He will keep you on your feet.

You will have him to thank.

Make an appointment to see Dr. Bruce Blank

High Heel Shoes

By

Tom Myles

---

She was a picture of perfection as she strolled by.

The boys would stop and smile
at her as she caught their eye.

It was a daily stroll she took, looking for attention.

It was the provocative way
she moved that caused so much mention.

But all the while behind her smile her back was singing the blues.

She heard a voice say there will come a day
when you'll quit those high heel shoes.

That came sooner than she expected.

Her foot and ankle broke down and had to be resurrected.
Common sense came into play when she heard a voice within say get down off those heels and buy some sensible shoes.

Then your back will no longer be singing the blues.

See your podiatrist; he will be friendly and frank.

He's one of a kind. Dr. Bruce Blank
